

From our Chairman, John Ward

With autumn ahead, why not join a group, or we will help you to set up a new one if there is a topic that interests you? And don't forget our excellent monthly speaker meetings.

If you are not already attending our monthly Monday morning discussion meetings (formerly called TED talks), then why not give them a try? We offer coffee or tea, viewing a short video together and then informal discussion in small groups. This is what u3a is all about. In the next two meetings we shall be talking about humans and AI merging and the truth about global population decline.

Or if you just want a friendly social chat over coffee, do drop in on a Wednesday coffee morning in the Solento Lounge. With so many absorbing things to do you don't have to be on your own and it won't be a dull autumn if you are an active member of Lymington u3a.

Coffee mornings

Come and join us for a sociable chat from 10 am in the Solento Lounge (formerly Barclays Bank).

NB Our coffee mornings are now held on the second and fourth Wednesday mornings of the month. All members are welcome.

The Monday Discussion - for stimulating, sometimes challenging discussion – just what u3a is for!

The Monday Discussion (formerly called TED Talks) takes place on the third Monday morning of the month at 10 am prompt in the Gates Hall at the Lymington Centre. Coffee / tea free of charge with chat until 10.15 am. We then watch an interesting short TED talk video together and then discuss it in sociable small groups. Here are the next topics:

Monday 21st September 10 am prompt

"Why humans should merge with AI"

Deep tech entrepreneur D. Scott Phoenix spent years building AI — now, he believes we're on the cusp of a profound merger between humans and machines. Reframing the AI debate through the lens of evolutionary biology, he shifts the question from whether we should fear or embrace AI to whether we understand what's at stake if we get it wrong. Hear his provocative case for why we need to "eat the AI."

Monday 19th October 10 am prompt

"The truth about human population decline"

With birth rates falling, the worldwide human population is getting older and smaller. According to traditional thinking, this spells a future of labour shortages, bankrupt social security systems and overall economic collapse. Before you panic about the end of life as we know it, political demographer Jennifer D. Sciubba has a thoughtful playbook for managing the new normal – including ideas on the future of work and migration – and a reminder that a resilient future relies on present-day action.
